Message from the President: It is my great pleasure to convey to our dear members and their families Dussehra & Diwali greetings from me and from my colleagues on the PWA Executive committee:

Message from the President Contd.

The members' meetings held in the month of May, 2015 at the Golf Links Community Centre and in the month of August, 2015 at the DSOI Dhaula Kuan were very well attended. However it is disappointing that the members' meeting (Golf) in February, 2015 was poorly attended, only 32 persons turned up for the event. It may please be noted by those members who wish number of meetings to be increased that the Executive Committee can only consider this suggestion if all the events being held currently are well attended.

Achievements:

1. Mr. Chandra Kant has informed that the Senior Citizens park near his house at Defence Colony was once again awarded the first prize in 2015 as the best overall park by the All Indian Kitchen Garden Association.

Parks in Delhi and the NCR region i.e., Gurgaon, Faridabad & Noida participated in this annual competition.

Mr. Chandra Kant is rightly proud of this achievement as the park was conceptualized by him and is maintained by him. He truly is a man with green fingers who has created a botanical wonder in the midst of a concrete jungle.

2. Mr. A K Bhargava mooted the idea of introducing WhatsApp for our Association. We are pleased to inform that many members have opted for the same and response has been most encouraging. Members who are interested to join the group may send a message to Mr. Lall on WhatsApp at his mobile 9818266448.
3. Mr. Murad Baig, husband of our member Ms. Tannie Baig has launched his book OCEAN OF COBRAS. The preview which is most interesting and is attached with this NL.

Champagne & Roses:

Births

Mr. & Mrs. Anuj Talukdar have been blessed with a baby girl.

Our Heartiest Congratulations!

Weddings

Nothing to report

Note: Members are once again requested to inform us by email or by post regarding Births, & Marriages. This helps us to include the announcements in the Newsletter.

Communication by Email & SMS:

We firmly believe in and very strongly support the initiative: “Go Green, Think Green, Act Green, Save paper, Save trees, Save Environment & Save Planet Earth”

In this respect, we have been requesting our members to give their consent for correspondence by E Mail.

Therefore, we are happy to report that around 163 NCR & Out Station members have very kindly extended their consent by e-mail messages to receive all our Association matters by Email. Thus we will be saving paper, Photostat and envelope expenses, postal and courier expenses which are increasing day by day. Moreover, it saves lot of time and office work required for mailing.

We earnestly request those members who have not sent e mail ID to send the same. It is our fervent hope that more and more members will opt for communication by email.

Our sincere thanks to Mr. Patney for undertaking the job of communication by email

Important: Members Circulars by SMS to those not on Email:

Kindly note that intimation from November, 2014 onwards for Members Meeting & Socials are being sent by SMS instead of by courier/post. This method has been very successful and the response received from members is very heartening.

This is being done not only to save cost of paper work, courier/post but to further the cause of "Go Green". However those who require the circular to be sent to them by courier/post are requested to kindly intimate the Hon. Secretary accordingly, though we earnestly hope that intimation by SMS is acceptable to all non- email members.

We thank Mr. V. Lall for taking on this task with commendable alacrity.

Member's Meeting:

a) Member - Lt. General K.K. Nanda, N N Nagpaul, &

*We deeply condole the sad demise of
Mr. Chandan Kumar Uppal
after a long illness borne with extreme fortitude.*

Channi as he was popularly known to his large circle of friends was one of those few planters who conceptualized the Planters Welfare Association, as a result of which PWA was established in June, 1988. Thereafter Channi served as its secretary for many years. In the years 2002 and 2003 he served the Association as President.

He will be remembered for his enthusiasm, dedication and energy with which he served our Association. Channi earned well deserved respect, appreciation, admiration and popularity of all the members.

We hope and pray that the Almighty will give strength to the bereaved family to overcome this irreplaceable loss.

For Tea Time – Draft ForHarki 27.04.2015

Typhoo and Rainforest Alliance announce Responsible sourcing partnership

Typhoo and Rainforest Alliance announced their responsible sourcing partnership in India with the launch of India's first globally certified environmentally sustainable teas to be marketed across the country. The suite of products launched into the Indian tea market by Typhoo bearing the distinct seal of the Rainforest Alliance include popular mainstream blends as well as new 'Gold' products. Following closely on the heels of the media launch in New Delhi, Typhoo organized Round Tables in Mumbai and Bangalore in collaboration with Rainforest Alliance - "Better Products. Better Practices. Better World" - aimed at bringing out the critical connection between climate change, consumers, community and consumption.

Dominique Gangneux, Vice-President, Markets Transformation, The Rainforest Alliance who joined Typhoo in India for the product launch and Round Tables said, "It is hugely progressive and commendable of Typhoo to bring a suite of products to the market that carry the Rainforest Alliance green frog seal. Committing sourcing tea from Rainforest Alliance Certified™ tea estates and to display the Frog seal so prominently in its luxurious as well as premium popular brands gives consumers confidence that the tea they are buying has been responsibly sourced. We are looking forward to working with Typhoo in reaching out to a growing community of socially conscious consumers in India who want to purchase brands that enable their commitment to a more sustainable world to be realised. Current market estimates put this segment of consumers between 30 and 35 per cent and this segment is growing at an estimated 5 CAGR per year. With their world class certified products now available across India, Typhoo has leapfrogged our campaign in India and we look forward to more national brands across a range of farm products committing to Rainforest Alliance certification in the future."

Announcing the start of Typhoo's plan to offer certified teas pan India Subrata Mukherji, Business Head of Typhoo's Indian operations said, "Our certified products are aligned with the evolving consumer attitudes; their growing environmental concerns as well as mindful living linking consumption & sustainability. With our products sourced from estates that have implemented stringent best practices as well as rigorous standards for the last few years and a certification seal now on our Product Packs, we seek to spark a debate on the connection between Climate, Community, Consumption and Consumers." Typhoo has been sourcing tea from the tea estates of Apeejay Tea that produce as per Sustainable Agricultural Network standards carrying various certifications, including Ethical Tea Partnership and Rainforest Alliance, for approximately five years. Introducing the certification imprint in branding and communication of Typhoo's world class products is a deliberate decision to service the growing community of socially conscious consumers who want to support responsible farming as well as nurture all consumers to know how to differentiate brands at the point of purchase through clearly visible certification seal on product packaging as a guarantee that the teas s/he is purchasing are produced responsibly, Subrata Mukherji said.

Welcoming the national launch Tensie Whelan, president of The Rainforest Alliance said,“I am delighted to see this commitment by Typhoo and Apeejay to Rainforest Alliance certification. It helps to guarantee a brighter future for tea production and consumption in India, giving India’s wonderful natural heritage a more secure future. This commitment is hugely exciting. The direct consequence of Typhoo’s commitment is that the Indian consumer will have the choice of world class certified products available to them across India. Products that have been produced responsibly, products that demonstrate the important step that all tea brands in India must take so that tea estates meet comprehensive standards for sustainable agriculture that protect India’s environment, biodiversity, waterways, wildlife habitats and the rights and well-being of workers & their families.”

The Round Tables in Mumbai and Bangalore were curated by Rainforest Alliance and Typhoo to bring out the need to create awareness and understanding of how consumers in India can use their purchasing power to support their environmental sustainability concerns. Per Bogstad, Senior Manager, Markets Transformation for UK, Ireland and India, who moderated the Round Tables maintained that, “Globally, Rainforest Alliance has observed that three constituents need to work together to bring about this change – Consumers, companies and the media. The discussions in both the cities showed that the Indian customers are ready and receptive to adding a new attribute to their product choices. Traditionally there has always been one pioneer company which has brought the issue forward and pushed the envelope. Through these launches Typhoo has shown genuine leadership in this direction”

The Indian arm of the over 100 year old iconic British brand Typhoo, which is the 2nd largest tea manufacturer by volume in the UK, hopes to herald an era of responsible food marketing in India with the national launch of its certified teas. The group of prominent people the Round Tables drew from a varied mix of backgrounds, professions and industries and brought forth that the consumers need to know how to differentiate brands at the point of purchase through clearly visible sustainability seals on product packaging as a guarantee that the goods and services s/he is purchasing are produced responsibly. Dominique Gangneux and Per Bogstad from Rainforest Alliance UK were joined by Ashok Batra and Harkirat Sidhu, Rainforest Alliance’s Indian representatives in the Round Table. Shikha Mukerjee advisor CSR for Apeejay Tea joined Subrata Mukerji and Amar Wadhwa, Marketing head from the Typhoo team.

Emphasizing the role of brands, private companies and the consumers in building a sustainable future, the Round Tables threw up three contentious issues – was there a demand among Indian consumers for brands to have a broader purpose than its product offering; was it primarily the responsibility of the brand to push sustainability sourced products to consumers, or is the responsibility for consumers to pull brands in the direction of sustainable and responsible sourcing and What opportunity does responsible sourcing present to brands to position themselves in the Indian market, to innovate and deepen their engagement with consumers, helping to build loyalty and brand equity.

Explaining why Typhoo had adopted the frog, Subrata Mukherji said that the brand seeks to spark a debate on the connection between Climate, Community, Consumption and Consumers as it was an important connection for all involved to understand and will make for Better products, Better Practices by every company and ultimately for a Better World. Dominique Gangneux, Vice-President, Markets Transformation, the Rainforest Alliance lauded Typhoo for leading this important debate in India and said that Rainforest Alliance plans to intensify their work in the Indian sub continent and he hoped that many more brands will bring certification seals onto their product packs. Inaugurating the Round Table in Mumbai Subrata said, "Typhoo would like to take a pioneering role in encouraging the consumers in India to think about the larger impact of their purchase decisions. While we have had a certified supply chain for many years we have decided to now display the certification imprint on our packs but the fact is that individual buying power can indeed be harnessed to force the change in supply chains towards a more sustainable future. That's the alternative thought we want to put out there". The round tables aimed at starting conversations in the areas of consumer concerns for sustainability and a brand's ability to deliver solutions.

In Mumbai ,BachiKarkaria, columnist, commentator ,ex senior editor Times of India,Vikram Aditya Chaudhri owner Wingreen Farms a company producing and marketing ethnic food products, Priyanka Bhasin, founder Design Stack,James McIntockCountry Head, India at UK based company The Sound joined the Round Table as influencers in their respective fields. In Bangalore Nandan Kamath, a Prominent Lawyer and founder of LawnK Law Firm ,Ashok George, Head Sales & Marketing, Kuwait based Dairy farming company now In India , KDD Industries, Milan Vohra , a successful advertising professional and a published author, Cherukuri Indira Dasgupta , director of People's Institute for Development and Training, who has been working closely with people at the grassroot level in the villages joined in Round Table in Bangalore.

Both the Round Tables arrived at the consensus that the consumers can indeed demonstrate their concerns through the purchasing decisions they make provided they are educated and informed about the role that globally benchmarked certifications play and why Indian brands must display certifications prominently on product packs as many do globally.

The Panelists in both cities agreed that consumers in India are quite ready for sustainable consumption and inherently understand that the planet does face problems and these need sustained action on many fronts.The WWF Living Planet report reveals that burden of human consumption is unsustainable and we would need 1.5 Earths to regenerate the natural resources that we are currently consuming. The discussions brought forth the real opportunity for brands that display a wider purpose to both meet the needs of "aspirationals" and in doing so, improve the business benefits to the brand. Typhoo and Rainforest Alliance plan to keep these conversations going.

Synopsis of the novel

OCEAN OF COBRAS

The chronicle of a slave to

The Mughal prince Dara Shikoh

Murad Ali Baig

The story about a beautifully tragic life as related in a long lost manuscript written by Mubarak Ali, a faithful palace eunuch who was Prince Dara Shukoh's constant companion and witness to all the battles, intrigues, scholarship, trial, death and events of his tumultuous life. The book is packed with military action, the magnificence and intrigues of the Mughal court and a battle for the very soul of India with Dara's religious tolerance pitted against the puritanical Islamic intolerance of Aurangzeb.

Mubarak Ali's adventures are pure fiction set in the actual history of the Mughal empire between 1620 and 1660 where emperor Shahjahan's eldest and favorite son Dara battles against his brothers Shuja, Aurangzeb and Murad for the Mughal throne after Shahjahan becomes seriously ill. Over five battles, the conflict eventually narrows to one between the liberal Dara and the orthodox Aurangzeb. Betrayal gives Aurangzeb a very narrow victory.

Dara was a liberal thinking scholar (also of Sanskrit) who first had the Upanishads and Bhagavat Gita translated from Sanskrit to Persian to become widely known for the first time. He also wrote his own book 'Mingling of the Oceans' showing the commonality between the Quran and the Hindu Shastras. If Dara had won the Mughal throne India might have enjoyed a long period of Hindu – Muslim amity instead of centuries of communal strife.

Mubarak, the fictitious narrator of this epic story, is a faintly foreign eunuch of the emperor's Zenana. Aged six years younger than Dara he is intimate with all the members of the imperial family from their childhood to their adult years. Over the years he develops from a nine year old boy into a capable soldier and reveals intimate insights into the lives of the powerful men and women of the court. In the cloistered zenana he also develops a secret and strictly forbidden intimate relationship with a royal princess.

His adventures describe the exciting royal hunts, the passing of Mumtaz Mahal, the building of the magnificent Taj and the new city of Delhi. He shares his experiences while among tribals in the jungles, worship in Hindu and Muslim holy places, Dara's grand marriage to Nadira Bano and the trade at the sea port of Surat with its many taverns and brothels. He shares Dara's spiritual quest for Hindu-Muslim brotherhood exploring the many religious ideas of a time when Hindu's were just beginning to assert their position in a Mughal world. The reader will follow Mubarak on a colorful tour of Hindustan from the limpid lakes of Kashmir to the craggy terrain of the Deccan and Kandahar, the lush pastures of the Punjab, the forested hills of the Himalayas to the sandy wastes of Sind and Baluchistan.

Mubarak describes many scenes of battle where the Mughal strategies and command structures are described for the first time. He rides with Dara at the battle of Samugarh and follows him on the long retreat to Lahore and then down the Indus. He then assassinates an enemy commander and helps rally Dara's forces for his final battle at Deorai near Ajmer. He then travels with Dara's family and retainers through the cruel deserts of Sind and Baluchistan until Dara is again betrayed and taken to Delhi as a prisoner. He is with Dara when he is paraded through Delhi and taken before the imperial Qazis where he is tried for heresy and condemned to death.

The Ocean of Cobras is a tale of love and war, of compassion and cruelty in a period of Mughal grandeur and passionate pride. The story of Dara is a true story that many people in India still remember despite the passage of the centuries.
